A long time ago a young family moved into an old house.

After their home was completely renovated and ready to move in, they started to unpack all of their boxes.

Happily they began to set up their furniture. But soon after, it seemed their house was haunted by a ghost .

Books fell out off the bookshelves, toys fell down the stairs and the water in the sink kept running. The lights went crazy and small objects went missing.

Together the family tried to solve the mystery.

One day they ate bread with seeds on top for breakfast.

When their neighbours knocked on the door, all of them got up to greet them.

After a few minutes they returned to the table to finish their breakfast. But all of the seeds on top of the bread had been gone.

A big piece of bread was missing too.

Soon another weird thing happened. The children found a brown feather in the bathroom.

The family figured out, that their ghost had to be a bird.

The children made up a plan to catch und surprise it.

Quickly they ran into the garden to search for a pinecone that they could put into warm coconutoil, so the seeds would stick to it.

Afterwards they put it on the table.

Then the family hid and waited for the bird to show up.

When the bird landed the boy switched on the lights. He said "Now we got you!"

The bird made a loud noise and flew up into the air.

The girl wanted the bird to become part of their family.

She held her arm out to him. The bird landed on her.

Even though he was part of their family now he still kept haunting the house.
